CHARLIE ROTHWELL

CURRICULUM VITAE

Charlie is an Assistant Clinical Psychologist currently associated with the Neuropsychology service of the Neuro Rehab Group (NRG). With an aim to become a Clinical Psychologist he has begun building experience and gaining knowledge in a variety of different cases. In between completing his University degrees, Charlie gained experience working with adolescents and children in a non-clinical setting as a summer camp counsellor and NCS mentor.

After graduating from university Charlie began working as a therapy assistant for Neurosupport Services. This has resulted in him working alongside occupational therapists, physiotherapists, and clinical psychologists with varying specialities.

Charlie has experience working with a range of neurological presentations such as Traumatic Brain Injuries as well as Acquired Brain Injuries and/or developmental conditions such as Cerebral Palsy. Charlie's role has included the implementation of neuropsychological strategies and report writing under the supervision of a multidisciplinary team. This has given Charlie a wide range of experience with a range of clinical presentations such as impaired memory and dysexecutive functioning, anger management and addictions, to name a few.

Charlie Rothwell has gained over 18 months experience as a therapy assistant before beginning his role as an Assistant Clinical Psychologist.
