

JAYNE FOXLEY

CURRICULUM VITAE

Jayne qualified as a Speech and Language Therapist in 1995 with a BSc (Hons) in Speech and Language Pathology and Therapy degree class 2:1. She is registered with the Health Professions Council and is a member of the Royal College of Speech and Language Therapists.

Jayne has over 20 years experience working with adults and children with complex communication support needs, including those who require Augmentative and Alternative communication (AAC). She has extensive experience working with adults and children with learning disabilities and autism spectrum condition. She also works with clients with acquired brain injury. Jayne is also very experienced working with clients with behaviours which are challenging to services.

Jayne is a highly committed individual who has great passion for the work that she does. Jayne describes herself as loving those moments when there is a 'breakthrough' with individuals who are deemed 'hard to reach'.

Jayne has maintained her professional development throughout her career. She has had experience of being a Signalong tutor. She has also attended the Picture Exchange Communication System 2 day workshop, Intensive Interaction training, Language Acquisition through Motor Planning training, Developmental Trauma training and other courses related to her interests and specialisms.

Jayne has also completed the post-graduate dysphagia training with Quest training and is fully qualified to assess and manage clients with eating and drinking difficulties.

Jayne's initial post following qualification was with Wyre Forest Primary Care NHS Trust, working with children in the community clinics and in a school for children with moderate learning difficulties.

She was then promoted to working as a Specialist Speech and Language Therapist and provided the service to school aged children with moderate, severe and profound learning difficulties and also to a unit for children on the autistic spectrum. Jayne contributed to policy development within these placements.

Jayne was promoted to a Team Leader post in 2001 and she led a small team of Speech and Language Therapists and Therapy Assistants.

Jayne began working in the independent sector in 2006 and has worked in a variety of settings including schools and residential homes for children and adults with complex needs and also in adult learning disability services.

Jayne is a flexible, committed, hardworking and motivated. She believes in developing communication skills with a person centred and functional approach to enable individuals to participate in the daily activities of life and reach their potential.
